A Visual Immersion in Nature & Culture in Two Historic Himalayan Kingdoms

Combining jungle wildlife safaris and tranquil mountain sojourns, this unusual itinerary offers photographers a mosaic of diverse geography and cultures in two adjacent but very different Asian countries. In the shadow of the world's highest peaks, Nepal's lowland plains hold captivating animal subjects, including one-horned rhinos, sloth bears and leopards that prowl the subtropical forests. Next door in Bhutan, the "Land of the Thunder Dragon," photograph alpine panoramas, meadows dotted with grazing yaks, clear rushing rivers and ancient monasteries. Dedicated to preserving its deep Buddhist traditions and pristine landscapes, tiny Bhutan is a global conservation leader proud to be not only carbon-neutral but carbon-negative, sustaining ecological diversity through native forest restoration. Add in historic highlights and contemporary cultural scenes in the Kathmandu Valley, a UNESCO World Heritage Center, and you have a photography adventure sure to engage all your senses and creativity.

Day 1: Kathmandu, Nepal

Arrive in Kathmandu, the storied capital of Nepal. For centuries this city backdropped by the Himalayas has been a center of religious art and architecture in both Hindu and Buddhist traditions and is renowned for its ancient temples and urban squares. Settle in at Dwarika's, a heritage lodge that evokes the palaces of Nepal's Newar kings, where we stay among artifacts dating back to the 14th century. This evening, gather with our Expedition Leader for a welcome dinner in a private room at our hotel.

Day 2: Dhulikhel—Himalaya Photography / Bhaktapur

Rise early and drive east to the traditional Newari village of Dhulikhel in the foothills outside Kathmandu. Here, we behold a dramatic panorama of Nepal's high Himalayas, rising in a serrated line before us. More than 20 peaks are in view along the rock and ice spine, including Annapurna and Lhotse. After plenty of time to capture photos in the changing light, we have lunch in view of the mighty mountains before continuing to Bhaktapur. One of three ancient city-states in region along with Kathmandu and Patan, Bhaktapur is part of the UNESCO Kathmandu Valley World Heritage Site. Containing some of the best-preserved temples in the region, Bhaktapur offers the feeling of an open-air museum that is still the site of vital daily life. Durbar Square is the hub of the city's architectural heritage, a former royal palace complex that housed a sequence of kings from the 14th–18th centuries, until the Gorkha conquest in 1769. The latter established the Kingdom of Nepal that persisted until 2008, when Nepal was declared a democratic republic. Bhaktapur is also renowned as one of Nepal's premier handcraft centers, and we see artisans making intricate wood carvings, Thangka paintings on canvas, terracotta pottery, traditional dance masks, and garments woven of handloomed textiles. Return to Kathmandu for a second night.

Day 3: Bharatpur / Chitwan National Park

Fly this morning to Bharatpur on the Terai plains of southern Nepal and transfer to our luxury ecolodge, Meghauri Serai, for the next three nights. This serene safari base is ideally situated on the edge of the Rapti River near Chitwan National Park, in the largest area of undisturbed wilderness along the base of the Himalaya. Its location is the best in the Chitwan region for wildlife photography, which we take full advantage of during our stay. The area surrounding the lodge has a high sighting rate for one-horned rhinoceros, crocodile and gharial. and we occasionally see a highly elusive Bengal tiger.

Days 4 & 5: Photo Safari in Chitwan National Park

Chitwan National Park, established in 1973, is Nepal's first national park and was named a World Heritage Site by UNESCO in 1984. It covers 360 square miles of subtropical lowlands and is home to about 50 mammal species and more than 500 species of birds. We spend our days exploring the park on 4x4 safari drives, hoping to capture images of its most famous wild residents. While sightings are never guaranteed, we have good chances of photographing rhinoceros, Asian elephant, crocodile, leopard, sloth bear, sambar deer, wild boar, monkeys and jungle fowl, all in their natural habitat. Our Expedition Leader positions us in the best light and at ideal angles for excellent wildlife photos, with opportunities for photo shoots at sunrise and sunset, weather permitting. River safaris can also be arranged. A chance to track tigers is a special highlight, as we join our Expedition Leader and a local guide to search for footprints and pugmarks that mark the tigers' hidden presence in the park.

Day 6: Bharatpur / Kathmandu—Patan Durbar Square

Return to Bharatpur airport this morning for our flight back to Kathmandu. This afternoon, visit Patan, one of seven designated cultural sites in the Kathmandu Valley that have earned the region UNESCO World Heritage status. Patan lies a few miles outside Kathmandu and is home to the valley's finest craftsmen who have preserved ancient techniques used in exquisite sculptures and carvings. The city invites photography, retaining much of its old charm with its narrow streets, brick houses and multitude of well-preserved Hindu temples, Buddhist monasteries and monuments. As in Kathmandu, Hinduism and Buddhism have co-existed here for centuries, and the cultural and religious harmony are evident. At the city's heart lies Patan Durbar Square, where the kings of Patan resided. On a guided tour, we photograph the melange of palace buildings, artistic courtyards, graceful pagoda temples and shrines—a display of Newari architecture that reached its pinnacle during the reign of the Malla kings in the 17th and 18th centuries. Continue to our hotel in Kathmandu to spend the night.

Day 7: Paro, Bhutan / Thimphu

Fly this morning to the "Land of the Thunder Dragon"—the tiny Himalayan kingdom of Bhutan. If the skies are clear on our flight to Paro, we'll see the highest peaks on the planet visible below in a serrated white spine, setting a striking backdrop as we approach the green trough of the Paro Valley. Rich in culture, lush in scenic beauty, and steeped in history and legend, Paro offers a bucolic welcome to the kingdom. From Paro we drive to Thimphu, Bhutan's idyllic capital and a stronghold of traditional Bhutanese art, architecture and culture. Surrounded by mountains and monasteries, this seat of government and commerce on the Wang Chuu River is a harmonious mix of modern development and ancient traditions. It's also the only national capital without traffic lights.

As we arrive in Thimphu, we stop to photograph the Iron Bridge of Tachogang Lhakhang, built 600 years ago by legendary bridge builder Thangtong Gyalpo, a renowned engineer believed to be the first to use heavy iron chains in the construction of suspension bridges, which influenced building methods in Europe and Asia. Late this afternoon, we visit Thimphu Dzong. This striking Buddhist monastery and fortress was built in the 13th century, reconstructed over the years, and has served as the office of the king and seat of civil government for the country since 1952.

Day 8: Dochula / Punakha Valley

En route to Punakha, stop for photos atop Dochula Pass, a 10,171-foot saddle marked by 108 chortens, fluttering prayer flags and a panorama of the entire eastern Himalaya. The road drops dramatically into the Punakha Valley, descending through evergreen oak and rhododendron forests into fertile lowlands lush with rice, oranges, bananas and guavas. Punakha is the former capital of Bhutan and the winter residence of the monastic body. After lunch at a traditional local restaurant, set off for a short hike to Chimi Lhakhang Temple, a small shrine dedicated to one of Bhutan's favorite saints, the 15th-century Lama Drukpa Kunley. A rag-clad lotharian who used humor, songs and outrageous behavior to dramatize his teachings, he became known as the "Divine Madman" and is still beloved as such today. The peace of the Bhutanese landscape is palpable as our path to the temple ambles through green pastures and rice paddies, passing farmers and livestock in the terraced fields. We'll pause periodically along our route to photograph these serene scenes.

Day 9: Punakha Temple Hike / Punakha Dzong

This morning we visit Khamsun Yuelley Namgyal Chorten, a temple dedicated to the well-being of the kingdom, its people and all sentient beings. Built atop a high ridge, the temple offers magnificent views of the Punakha Valley. After a picnic lunch, explore the massive Punakha Dzong, known as the "Palace of Great Happiness." Straddling the confluence of the Po (Father) and Mo (Mother) rivers, the monastery is Bhutan's best-known fortress. Built in 1637, it was the seat of government until 1955 and home to Bhutan's religious establishment. The palace occupies one of the most photogenic dzong sites in Bhutan; maroon-robed monks and guests must cross a wooden footbridge over the river to reach it.

Days 10 & 11: Gangtey Valley—Black-Necked Crane Center & Gangtey Monastery

Cross a high pass to reach the wide glacial valley of Gangtey, often referred to as Phobjikha, regarded as one of the most scenic destinations in Bhutan. Rich in exceptional biodiversity, this sacred and protected region of forest and wetlands is home to a number of rare and exotic wildlife species, including the globally endangered black-necked cranes that migrate to the valley each autumn from their summer breeding grounds on the Tibetan Plateau. Local people believe that along with their arrival comes a good potato harvest and prosperity for the valley. Learn more about these elegant birds—the world's only alpine crane species—on a visit to the Black-Necked Crane Information Center, managed by Bhutan's Royal Society for the Protection of Nature. Powerful spotting scopes are available to seek out these showy avian denizens, several hundred of which make the journey each year. With a bright red crown, slender black neck, and a wingspan up to 8 feet, the birds are the subject of Bhutanese folklore songs, and are painted on the walls of homes, businesses and temples throughout the country. We also visit magnificent Gangtey Goemba Monastery, perched atop a hill that overlooking the valley. The 17th-century monastery is surrounded by a large village inhabited mainly by the families of the 140 gomchens who take care of the sacred Buddhist site with deep devotion.

Day 12: Paro Valley—Archery Lesson

A half-day drive returns us to Paro in the mountainous northwest of Bhutan, a region rich in natural beauty and culture and abounding with myths and legends. We visit a local farmhouse where we'll participate in a traditional archery lesson to learn about the national sport of the kingdom. Archery tournaments and competitions are held throughout the country, often during public holidays and local festivals called tsechu. Though archery historically is a martial art, it is practiced by the peace-loving Bhutanese for physical exercise and to hone concentration.

Day 13: Paro—Tiger's Nest Monastery

Our final morning in Bhutan holds a most impressive sight: Taktsang Monastery, also known as the "Tiger's Nest." The famous subject of many photographs, this complex of 17th-century temples clings to the side of a precipitous cliff nearly 3,000 feet above the valley floor. Its name is derived from myth, which holds that Guru Rinpoche, the tantric mystic who brought Buddhism from India to Bhutan in the 8th century, landed here on the back of a flying tigress and stayed to meditate in a cave for three months. Gain an initial vista as we hike to a viewpoint opposite the monastery, while those who choose to tackle the entire challenging journey will have their effort well rewarded with unsurpassed views of the temples, surrounding peaks and valley below. Afterward, there may be time to do some last-minute shopping before saying farewell to this most captivating country.

Day 14: Paro / Bangkok, Thailand / Depart

Our Himalayan photography sojourn concludes as we depart from the Paro airport on a group flight to Bangkok, where we connect with onward flights.

A Unique Asian Photo Journey Melding Nature & Cultures

Most trips to the Himalayas tend to be somewhat singularly focused: you'll spend most of your time exploring museums and monasteries, or you'll sign on for a taxing trek between high-altitude camps. What about an alternative for the photographer who's fascinated by both nature and culture, who values diverse nature subjects but also appreciates rich human history, not to mention creature comforts? We think we have created your ideal adventure!

1 A Unique Nature-Intensive Focus

Our carefully crafted itinerary combines highlights of two countries and offers an unusual combination of natural and cultural subjects rarely presented together. Photograph native wildlife, such as Asian elephant and rhinos, in Nepal, and snap alpine panoramas from passes in Bhutan. We also capture images of each country's Buddhist and Hindu heritage expressed in rich architectural and religious sites.

2 Spend Three Days Photographing Wildlife in the Jungles of Nepal

Nepal is known for its Himalayan heights, but its lowlands—called the Terai—are where its most abundant wildlife resides. We stay at a secluded luxury ecolodge near Chitwan National Park, Nepal's premier wildlife reserve, and the lodge boasts high sightings of one-horned rhinoceros, crocodile and gharial. We may also see wild Asian elephant, leopard, sloth bear, wild boar, crocodile, sambar deer and monkeys—and, if we're extremely lucky, the elusive Bengal tiger.

3 A Diverse Itinerary Filled with Varied Activities

This unusual trip includes an engaging mix of activities that appeal to photographers: wildlife drives, guided nature walks and canoe rides, plus cultural experiences in Kathmandu and Bhutan. Bhutan is known for its dramatic landscapes and serene Buddhist culture, and we'll have ample opportunity to experience both as we visit temples adorned with fluttering prayer flags and its architecturally unique dzongs (massive fortified monasteries). If you're the kind of photographer who finds everything interesting, this trip is for you!

4 Outstanding Bird Photo Opportunities

In addition to the varied mammals we may spot, Chitwan abounds in bird species—more than 500 are found in the vicinity of our lodge—and we're sure to see plenty in Bhutan as well. Even casual birdwatchers will enjoy the avian elements of our adventure. Bring your telephoto lens!

5 Photograph Takin in Bhutan’s Motithang Reserve

While stunning mountainscapes and a rich Buddhist heritage are Bhutan’s greatest draws for most travelers, a visit to this wildlife reserve is also a highlight for photographers interested in Bhutan’s native wildlife species. The takin, a large, shaggy ungulate related to the muskox, is Bhutan’s national animal, and we’ll get close-up shots at this sanctuary, as well as of sambar and barking deer.

6 A Small Group for Quieter Photo Encounters

Because we know that both wildlife and cultural encounters are best in intimate settings, we travel with no more than nine guests—ensuring quiet moments with wildlife and personal interaction with the people we will meet.

7 Travel with Outstanding Photographer-Naturalist Guides

At Nat Hab, we’ve developed a global reputation for the world’s best guides, because we know guides are the key to making a good trip truly great. In Bhutan, our own Expedition Leader is paired with an outstanding local Bhutanese guide, ensuring the ideal complement of trip management expertise, attentive personal service and insider insight—not to mention expert photography guidance. And in Nepal’s Chitwan National Park, we are joined by expert local naturalists from our jungle lodge who are highly adept wildlife spotters, on hand to help you get the pictures you covet. Our Photo Expedition Leader oversees your trip from start to finish, while our knowledgeable local guides add in-depth understanding of local culture and wildlife.

8 Our Quality-Value Guarantee Ensures Your Outstanding Himalayan Adventure

With Natural Habitat Adventures, you receive our exclusive guarantee, which clearly states that we will meet the high expectations we set forth in our promotional materials. To our knowledge, this is the most ambitious guarantee made by any adventure travel company.

Physical Requirements

Moderate to Difficult

You must be able to walk unassisted (without the use of walking aids) for at least two miles at a steady pace over uneven terrain, climb stairs without hand railings, and be active at altitudes exceeding 7,000 feet above sea level in order to participate in this adventure. The Kathmandu city tour may last 2-3 hours (with stops) and include climbing steep stairs in order to visit all cultural sites. Our excursions in Chitwan National Park include easy nature walks over unpaved walking trails and typically last about two hours. Climbing short ladders is required in order to get into and out of safari vehicles, and wildlife drives in the park travel dirt roads that are sometimes very rough and bumpy with potentially dusty conditions. Those with back problems or other health issues that could be exacerbated by such circumstances should take this into consideration. The trip also involves many very early morning starts and long, full days of activities with little downtime, which can be quite tiring.

All areas visited in Bhutan lie above 4,000 feet, with several over 7,000 feet in elevation. We also drive over a mountain pass that is 10,000 feet in elevation. The most difficult excursion is the hike to the Tiger's Nest monastery in Paro, which involves a 4-hour round-trip walk with a 3,000-foot elevation gain ending at 10,000 feet above sea level. There are also many stairs to navigate in order to reach the monastery. Mules are available to transport clients partway up (weight restrictions do apply; riders cannot exceed 200 pounds), but guests must walk on their own back down to the bottom. There is a viewing place at the halfway point on the hike, where you can stop to view the monastery without traveling the entire distance.

On custom or private departures with smaller groups, our ability to accommodate varying levels of physical abilities or interests is limited, since these trips are staffed with a single Expedition Leader who may be assisted, pending availability, by local guides.

Important Information About This Trip

Most of our guests travel to Nepal for encounters with the country's wildlife. While nature experiences in this part of the world are indeed remarkable, there is a fundamental difference between a safari in the Nepal jungle and a typical African safari. At times, guests lured to Nepal by tourist brochures promising "wildlife safaris" can be disappointed to see fewer animals than they expected, or at least fewer than they might normally see in Africa. It is not that Nepal's surviving jungle habitat is thinly populated with wildlife, but, similarly to places like Costa Rica where the forest vegetation is very dense, and here, the elephant grass is also very tall, animals have mastered the art of camouflage and can be difficult to spot. That said, we have carefully designed our itineraries to capitalize on the best conditions to spot wildlife. But various factors can affect potential sightings, including inclement weather, which creates small pockets of water that allow the animals to remain hidden in the forest, rather than being forced into the open to frequent waterholes. The secret to a successful nature adventure lies with the expertise of our Expedition Leaders and park rangers, as well as your knowing what to expect as a traveler, and in understanding that the privilege of stepping into a wild and untouched natural realm is a reward in itself.

A note about departure dates: Nat Hab cannot finalize confirmed dates for any given Nepal & Bhutan departure until the airlines publish their schedule for our internal flights on tour in the unlikely event that their schedule may force us to shift our itinerary dates. The airlines typically release this information in June of each year. Please do not book your international flights until departure dates have been confirmed by Nat Hab.

Mandatory Insurance

Since the areas we travel to are remote and wild (that's why we go there!), we require that all guests have, at minimum, medical evacuation insurance for this program. This is for the safety of all guests. We require that your chosen independent insurance plan includes at least $250,000 in medical evacuation coverage.

To protect your investment and to provide peace of mind while you travel, we also strongly recommend purchasing comprehensive travel insurance. Plans may cover everything from medical treatment to trip cancellations and delays and lost luggage. Please contact our office if you would like more information about the medical evacuation and comprehensive travel insurance policies we offer by calling 800-543-8917.

Getting There & Getting Home

You should plan to arrive in Kathmandu, Nepal by 3 pm on Day 1 of the trip in order to participate in an orientation and group welcome dinner beginning at 6:30 pm. For trips in February-April, you are free to schedule your departing flight from Bangkok, Thailand after 9 pm on the final day. For trips in November & December, you are free to schedule your departing flight from Bangkok, Thailand after 11 pm on the final day. In either case, we recommend that you stay an extra night in Bangkok to account for any flight delays.

We can best serve you if our Natural Habitat Adventures Travel Desk makes your reservations, as we are intimately familiar with the special requirements of this program and can arrange the most efficient travel. Please call us at 800-543-8917. Note that while we offer you the best possible rates available to us on airfare and additional nights' accommodations, you may find better fares online.
